

TWO KILLED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

REBEL BANNER FLOATS OVER FALLEN BILBAO

Conquerors Enter Basque Capital "Without Resistance" from Enemy.

CHURCHBELLS RING OUT
Only a Strategic Center as Well as Valuable Source
of War Materials.

By The Associated Press
BARCELONA, Franco-Spanish
Front, June 19.—The headquarters
of insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco announced late
today that the insurgent armies
had entered the Basque capital of Bilbao at 2:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m.
Marion time), "without resistance."
The announcement, expected almost daily during the last week
of dramatic and furious siege was made by insurgent radio stations through Franco's territory.
Churchbells rang in the other parts held by the insurgents.

There was, however, no immediate confirmation from Basque government sources.
Bilbao is the Pittsburgh of Spain,
the center of the autonomous Basque country along the Biscay
bay because of its mineral lands and heavy industries. It has been under direct insurgent siege for almost three months. In its 70 years of history it never before had been succumbed to attack.

The Franco announcement also
was made by the official news agency in Berlin, which sides with the insurgents in the Spanish civil war.

Operations Complete
The official insurgent wireless announced that "military operations" against Bilbao were complete.

Officers have taken full control of the ultimate occupation of Bilbao
since the city's iron ring of steel and concrete forts was smashed on the eastern side of Bilbao a week ago.

Without a water supply for four days, foodless for two days, and
without electricity since Thursday, Bilbaoers from the terror-stricken city came through the insurgent lines with tales of executions, looting
and marauding by the last of the Asturian miners planning a desperate defense at their barracks.

They said thousands of wounded
in the major hospitals and in barracks converted into first aid stations were deserted by doctors and nurses.

A sleeping nurse, who staggered
to the path to the church here,
said the government officials had abandoned—automobiles and ambulances for escape, unattended
the needs of soldiers' families in the week-long insurgent drive
toward Bilbao's cement and steel plant.

Horrors Visible
I can see part of all this horror
from the Beona church where the city center begins.

No insurgent soldiers are between here and the last Asturias, the barracks in the northwest industrial section.

Actually I am so close that two government soldiers came up to the church with arms upraised, surrounding to Capt. Aguilera, the chief officers accompanying me.

To come other groups straggled up the long stairs to the church, carrying white handkerchiefs,
sweaters, bedraggled and weeping, embracing one another with relief for having escaped the terror
of the Basque capital, once
one of the world's most beautiful cities.

All crowded around, pleading to enter their story and pause only
to about down to others not to

PENSION SUIT HEARING SET

Appeal of Former Police Chief
in Test Suit Set for July 7.

BOOK SILENCES CASES

Court of Appeals Also To Hear Osgood Vocational Student Pay Suits.

Suit of J. W. Thompson, former Marion police chief, against the city of Marion to test the legality of city council's abolition of pension fund payments is one of 17
Marion cases for which appeal hearings have been set by the Third district court of appeals, Clerk of Court Carl F. Hasbeman was notified today.

Among the other cases to be heard are: nine silicosis damage
suits, seeking more than $713,000
and actions of five Marion men to collect pay allegedly due them for work done as high school vocational students.

Former Chief Thompson appealed
his case from a common pleas court ruling that the city had
the legal right to discontinue payment of police pensions. His appeal will be heard Wednesday, July 7,
at 9:30 a. m. He is represented by
W. P. Moloney, City Solicitor
Ralph E. Carhart represents the city.

Trust Fund Suits
The cases involving the former
high school students, to be heard Tuesday, July 6, at 9:30 a. m., are those of Timothy Caldwell, Charles
G. Driggs, Arnold Finical, Harry Wick and Malcolm Severns. They seek to collect a $1,600 trust fund
established by the Osgood Co., representing money to have been paid
the students if they were graduated from high school. They were never graduated and thus forfeited
their right to the money, the court here ruled.

The court further ruled that the Marion city board of education is entitled to the money, an act which attorneys said eliminated the Osgood
Co. as a party to the suit.

The attorneys said the appeal was made to test whether the board or
the youths should receive the money. W. D. Dexter, Hazen, represents the former students, Ralph E. Carhart, the school board, and Ben T. Wilent the Osgood Co.

The silicosis cases, appealed by Dr. T. H. Sutherland and Paul D.
Smith, representing the plaintiffs,
also will be heard Tuesday morning, July 6. The cases in which damages are sought because of the disease, allegedly contracted by the

APPRAISAL OF WATER PLANT IS COMPLETED

State Utilities Commission Engineers Place Valuation at $1,377,675.

BELOW COMPANY FIGURE

Report Does Not Necessarily Mean City Entitled to Cut,
Carhart Says.

Engineers of the state utilities
commission have placed a valuation
of $1,377,675 on the property of the Marion Water Co. for rate making purposes, $163,560.34 less than the valuation claimed by the company.

A copy of an appraisal of the property just completed by the commission engineers to help guide
the commission in deciding the Marion water rate controversy was received today by City Solicitor
Ralph E. Carhart.

The engineers' finding of the valuation apparently weakens the company's position in the water
rate controversy hearing to be resumed next Wednesday, but the full effect of the $163,560.34 slash
in the valuation of the property for rate making purposes will not become known until the commission
disposes of the case.

Since 1936 the company contended
that its 1936 income paid it only 144 per cent return on the valuation figure. It claimed, the 1936 rate of return apparently would be substantially higher if the compensation were made on the basis of the valuation found by the commission's engineers. However, past cases indicate the commission regards approximately six per cent as a reasonable rate of return for a utility company.

Significance in Doubt
In view of the fact the valuation
figure is significant in the rate
case only as a base for applying
the percentage rate of return
which the commission will fix, City Solicitor Carhart said this morning
that the valuation of the water plant probably does not in itself
mean that the city is entitled to any reduction in rates, according to the company's records of its 1936 income.

The commission's engineers report places the reproduction value
of the company's property in Marion at $1,541,739.25, that being the cost to put in a new plant like the present one. From that figure they deduct depreciation totaling $174, 833.59, or 11.5 per cent of the total for the property's shrinkage in value through age and wear. The depreciation figure was not computed at a flat 11.5 per cent, but varied on different items of property, averaging 11.5 for the plant
as a whole.

The commission engineers' valuation figure is roughly midway between the extremes of three possible book valuations placed on the company's property by E. W. Wood, Marion's certified public accountant,
in a financial study made for the city in its preparations for the rate fight. The possible book values he listed ranged from $1,148,676 to $1,510,090, the variation depending

WPA TO BE STOPPED IN NEARBY COUNTIES

Marion County Escapes Shut-Down To Be Effected
Shortly.

Virtually a death blow was dealt to WPA set-ups in five of the six counties surrounding Marion county
by Dr. Carl Watson, state WPA administrator today, following a conference with commissioners of 43 rural counties. The Associated Press reported from Columbus.

Marion county, with its 600 WPA workers is too large to be included in the first shut-down and was not represented at the meeting. The 43 counties in which the shutdown will be ordered shortly by Dr. Watson all have less than 300
on the WPA rolls. The counties affected now here are Wyandot with 100, Crawford with 290, Morrow
with 100 and Delaware and Union
with an unreported number of workers.

Marion county WPA work is likely to be shut down within a year with the remainder of the state, Dr. Watson indicated. Most projects already under way will be completed before the general state
shut-down, he said.

Some of the commissioners protested the move, in the 43 smaller counties but heard Dr. Watson say
"The WPA has been definitely charged with employing men who are needed in private industry. Our answer to that charge is to make these people available to industry."

Such a plan is now being considered by Marion county WPA officials who have discussed with commissioners the possibility of making the annual fall surface
treating program for county roads
a WPA project.

RED AVIATORS FLY OVER POLE

Report Ice Forming on Their Plane as They Pass
Rudolph Island.

MAY ESTABLISH RECORD

Trio Reports Ship Working
Well but Weather Forces
Blind Flying.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 19.—The army radio station at Seattle reported today that it had contacted the Russian transpolar plane and was standing by to receive any message it might send.

By The Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 19.—Three Russian aviators, blazing an Arctic air trail here from Moscow, sped across the murky north pole region early today and started down from the top of the world on their daring 8,000-mile flight.

Unreported for many hours, the
"three heroes of the Soviet union"
broke their silence shortly after midnight (3 a. m. Marion time)
and announced they had soared
across the pole, the Russian con-sulate here announced.

"We have been informed the fliers crossed the pole at 9:10 last night," a consulate spokesman said. "That is all the information
we have."

Some hours previously, the trio
reported they were streaking
toward bleak Rudolph Island as ice formed on their plane.

In view of the consulate's announcement, it was assumed the plane was speeding on its planned course, which it completed would surpass the distance record of 5,637
miles established in August, 1935, between New York and Syria by the Frenchmen Paul Godeaux and Maurice Roset.

The trio, Pilot Valeri Pavlovitch
Chkalov, 33; Co-pilot George Phillipovich Baidukov, 30; and Navigator Alexander Vassilievitch Bello-kov, 40, reported to Moscow the big, single-motored plane was working well, but weather conditions
forced "blind flying."

"It's getting colder," their radio
flashed last night. "We are heading directly toward Rudolph Island radio station." They mentioned a light crust of ice forming on the plane, but whether it reached impending proportions was not disclosed.

The hazardous flight, which turned back the first trail blazers
in 1935, began from Chkalov airdrome near Moscow, at 4:05 a. m.
Friday (8:05 p. m. Thursday, Marion time).

At midnight (3 a. m. Marion time) the trio had been in the air

PLEA TO GRACE FAILS

Bethlehem Steel Head Refuses To Close Mill
To Avoid Trouble.

By The Associated Press
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 19.—
Gov. George H. Earle declared martial law in strike-embattled Johnstown today after Eugene
Grace, president of Bethlehem
Steel, refused to heed the governor's appeal to close the big Cambria steel works "to preserve
peace and avoid bloodshed."

Gov. Earle's action coincided with a report that 40,000 miners
would march on Johnstown Sunday
to encourage the steel strikers in the 24-day-old clash between John L. Lewis' CIO and four independent steel companies—Republic, Bethlehem, Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., over refusal of the latter to sign labor contracts.

Mayor Arthur J. Ingersoll
The rapidly darkening situation
in the bitter "battle of steel" was emphasized in a new telegraphic appeal to President Roosevelt by Mayor Daniel J. Shields of Johnstown.

The mayor warned President Roosevelt that the crisis has reached a point where continuance of the CIO in Johnstown "can only mean bloodshed in our streets."

"He said that 'rule or ruin, control or murder, is the policy of the CIO.'"

"Are you going to fall me by allowing this reign of terror to continue?" he asked the President.

"Ninety per cent of my citizens
are opposed to the CIO. Personally
I am firmly convinced that it is a Russian red organization gaining prestige by use of your name."

"Numerous non-citizens are found in the picket lines."

"Confidential information in my hand warns me of certain dynamite explosions now planned. Certain major bridges, I am warned, are to be blown up. Warnings have been received and my family
are to be destroyed."

"Kidnappings have taken place."
"In my city so tainted that the department of justice will not come
and expose this kidnapping."

"Mr. President, I fought for you.
I talked for you and caused others to look alike. Just because I looked to you as a real American.
Are you going to fall me by allowing this?"

Sir James Barrie, Who Won Fame With Plays, Dies

Creator of Peter Pan Succumbs to Pneumonia Attack
in London Nursing Home.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, June 19.—Sir James
M. Barrie, creator of the immortal
Peter Pan, died today. He was 77
years old.

The British playwright and novelist, who gave to the world
the poignant story of the little boy
who wouldn't grow up, was taken to a London nursing home on June 11, suffering from bronchial pneumonia. He had been ill a long time.

Early this morning, Peter Davies,
who as a little boy inspired Barrie
to write the story of Peter Pan
and his "never-never-land," reached
the dying author's bedside.

At that time the doctors were announcing that Sir James' life
was "slowly ebbing away."

Shortly before 8 a. m. Sir James became unconscious. But Davies stayed until the end.

Unlike many writers who at the beginning have had to struggle
for recognition, the career of Sir James M. Barrie in the field of literature and drama was a pronounced success almost from the start and reached its climax in 1922 when he was decorated with

SCHORR PLAYED AND PRAISED AT G.O.P. POWWOW

Some Two Score Resolutions
Including Seven Democratic Policies Approved.

ROOSEVELT DENOUNCED

Ruff of Canton Says Democrats Bought Election; Score
Davy in Strike Situation.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, June 19.—An attack and defense of Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr and
adoption of nearly two-score resolutions seven of which also carry Democratic party approval—concluded a two-day Cleveland rally
of Ohio Republicans.

Delegates to the conference held under the auspices of the Ohio
Federation of Republican clubs
turned homeward today after hearing Schorr attacked for not coming to the meeting, the first statewide G. O. P. affair since the November election.

"We shall not think of the attack head of the Republican party
in this state, who, after a crushing defeat, fails to attend such a conference as this, designed to rehabilitate the party," asked J.
Harry Payne of Newark.

Wants New Leader
"If you had someone running
your business and year after year
it went in the red, you'd go out and hire yourself a man. What the Republican party in this state needs," Payne continued, "is to hire a rooting, rooting, fighting
non-squaw who'll be on the job
all the time."

The attack brought a quick defense from former state Sen.
Walter H. Ruff of Canton, who also launched an attack on Gov.
Martin L. Davey concerning the steel strike situation.

"I don't think there is anything wrong with the Republican party," Ruff said, "but I think there are a lot of wrong people who call themselves Republicans."

"It wasn't the fault of the chairman last year that Ohio went Democratic. Why did Pennsylvania and other states go Democratic?"
Was it because the Republican elite claimers weren't on the job?
No, the Democrats won because they bought the election.

"You haven't anything but a playboy in the office of President today," Ruff asserted. "In my home
city of Canton 1,000 men want to go to work and 400 want to strike.
The men who want to go to work
appealed to the mayor. Do you suppose the mayor will get any help from Gov. Davey? He has been told he won't get any support
from the national guard."

"Will he get any support from Roosevelt? No, whenever there is trouble Roosevelt doesn't start fiddling like Nero did, he gets out
his flashing rod and goes flashing."

The conference, winding up its activities last night, adopted ten resolutions, which coincided with
new deal aims:

1—Minimum wages for women
and children in industry.

2—The principle of collective bargaining.

3—The principles of the social security act.

4—Continuation of national housing construction, although financed
by the federal government.

TAX QUIZ AIMS AT FUND SHIFTS

Leaders Suggest Increasing
Levy on Income Earned
Here and Sent Abroad.

SEE INFLOW OF REVENUE

May Also Pince "Pro-Rata Tax" on Incorporators in Foreign Lands.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 19.—Treasury officials, digging out new names and evidence for the congressional tax-dodging inquiry,
suggested today a major loophole
in the tax on income earned in America but shipped abroad.

They suggested an increase in the present 10 per cent "withholding tax" in income received from this country by non-resident individuals and foreign corporations.

If the "withholding tax" were raised to 25 per cent, some authorities said, taxpayers abroad
might be given the option of paying this levy or the ordinary American income tax.

This alternative, they declared,
probably would tend many to pay
the regular income tax rates, placing them on the same basis as citizens who pay standard income taxes.

As another method of reaching persons who transfer assets to foreign corporations, officials said
they could urge congress to place
a "pro-rata tax" on incorporators
who live in this country.

If a foreign corporation had 10
stockholders with 10 shares of stock each, they explained, each
would have to pay a tax on one-tenth of the corporation's income annually.

Rep. Vinson, Democrat of Kentucky, a member of the committee, said the present 25 per cent
penalty tax on any transfer of assets designed to reduce tax liability might be increased.

Present tax rates on domestic holding companies might be raised to deter their use for tax avoidance, revenue authorities said. The rates now range from 8 to 45 per cent on undistributed net income,
and officials said a range from 20
to 60 per cent might be preferable.

To meet another problem, they said it would be advisable to enact
a law requiring that the individual who earned the income in a family
should report it in full.

The first burst of publicity on individual taxpayers' yesterday
placed before the joint senate-house investigating committee the names of a half dozen persons.
Elmer L. Frey, veteran chief of the treasury's tax investigation
unit, said those named had reduced or eliminated federal tax payments through the formation of foreign holding companies, to which they transferred assets.

The committee, adjourning hearings until Tuesday morning, ordered the treasury to supply additional names as individual cases
are developed from tax records.

The Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN HOWLAND

EVER TOLD THE WORLD When the gods want to make a perfectly devoted and contented wife of a woman, they first extract her sense of humor and then anesthetize her vanity.

Women would have fewer heartaches if they would practice emotional moderation. The girl a man can't forget is the one who "stinks" but doesn't "cling."

A woman may have plenty of beauty and lots of "it"—and yet be a total loss if she shows rotten judgment in choosing her men and poor technique in holding them.

Funny how a man will go through life successfully dodging nice, eligible girls, until he is in his forties—and then fall for a cute little morsel with a dimple and a glum complexion. All the way 'round the mulberry bush—just to find a headache!

A half-baked love affair has no more allure for a woman of brains and good taste than a half-cooked dinner has for an epicure.

If it were not for breakfast—that sad, misty hour when a woman looks like a witch and a man feels like a juggernaut's chauffeur—lots of husbands and wives might never lose their glamour for each other.

Clove-scented kisses do not seem to be so popular nowadays; probably because wives are not so credulous as they were in those days when no "lady" had ever seen the inside of a bar-room—unless she carried an axe or a tambourine.

Next to keeping a pet leopard, keeping a diary is apparently one of the most dangerous things a woman can do. If she must keep one, she should write in it as cautiously and non-committally as the average man writes a love letter.

Adam's first wife, Lillith, was a "demon." At least, that was what he told Eve the first time he took her out to luncheon—and Eve told the world! (Copyright, 1937, by K. F. S. Inc.)

GALION, MANSFIELD COUPLE MARRIES

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

A. T. GOSHORN

Ohioans were proud of their showing at the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia in 1876, and much of the credit went to Major Alfred T. Goshorn, the executive secretary of the Ohio commission.

Goshorn, born in Cincinnati, July 15, 1833, became an attorney and when the Civil war began enlisted in the Union army.

Goshorn spent four years at Philadelphia in superintending the preparations for the Ohio exhibition. The Ohio building was so well constructed and arranged that it was accepted by Philadelphia to be preserved as a permanent building, being the only state building so taken.

Young People To Conduct Oakland Church Revival

Dr. Peter Wiseman and Rev. S. O. Young. To Be in Spotlight As Campaign Opens Sunday.

The homecoming and midsummer revival campaign sponsored annually at the Oakland Evangelical church by its young people will open Sunday and continue through July 4.

The Oakland young people who have given their church an outstanding record in the Ohio Evangelical church by the large number of their group who have consecrated their lives to Christian work, have dedicated their annual booklet, "The Gleam," to a retired Marion pastor who saw the possibility of establishing a church in the west end of the city.

Rev. S. O. Young of 330 Willow street, a retired Methodist Episcopal minister who will be on July 28, is the man to whom the 28-page booklet is dedicated. Although illness has prevented Rev. Young from attending church services for a number of years he has maintained a lively interest in the progress of the young people's work at the church. He is the grandfather of Miss Nellie Young, one of the Oakland young people who is preparing for missionary work.

Dr. Peter Wiseman of Port Credit, Ontario, Canada, will arrive Tuesday to take charge of the evangelistic services through July 4. He will preach each night at 7:30 and will conduct a Bible study each afternoon at 2. For nine years he was pastor and evangelist in Canada and the United States and he has been connected with various educational institutions in Canada. Since 1917 he has spent his summers in camp meeting work.

Dr. Wiseman was president of the Ontario Baptist conference in 1936 and is a member of the Ontario Baptist conference. He has been in charge of the evangelistic work in Canada for 12 years and for the last several years has been dean of the department of Bible and Christian theology at Lorne, Ontario, college. In Port Credit, he was general superintendent of the Holiness church in Canada for four years. In addition to a wide experience as an educator and preacher Dr. Wiseman has traveled throughout Canada, England, Ireland and Scotland. He has written several books, his latest being "The Fearless Christ."

Beginning next fall Dr. Wiseman will be in charge of the department of religion at Asbury college in Wilmore, Ky. He has summer camp meeting engagements until 1941.

The Sunday opening sermon at 10:30 a. m. will be delivered by Rev. Wilson Jaycox of Wilmore, Ky., one of the young people of the church. He will preach "The Gospel for This Age."

At 6:30 Leonard Wehmann of Chicago will talk at a young people's service and at 7:30 Rev. Dean Vermillion of Portland, Ore., another of the church's young people, will preach "The Great City War." Some of the Responsibility.

Mayors, sheriffs and governors who have been keeping their fingers crossed and trying to keep out of both the frying pan and the fire will be glad to welcome the federal government into the strike situation.

The Roosevelt administration has sought and obtained wider authority over labor, with the result that organized labor has been overtly grateful to it. The administration has been especially friendly to labor unions.

Nevertheless, the White House has remained discreetly in the background. In the automobile industry's strikes, for instance, Mr. Roosevelt is supposed to have worked through Gov. Murphy.

The steel strike, likewise, has been denied open federal attention. Local and state government have had the responsibility. The federal government has had the glory, if any.

It is, therefore, with a feeling of relief that the hard pressed politicians who have been taking responsibility so far acknowledge appointment by Secretary of Labor Perkins, with presidential approval, of a three man federal board to mediate the steel strike.

Miss Perkins has brought the federal government into the picture, where it belongs.

Powwow.

The death of the Republican party and the split in the ranks of the Democratic party always are made to seem a little further advanced than they actually are. That's understandable.

The fact is, the Republican party hasn't died yet, and the Democratic party hasn't split yet. When those frightful ends to useful existence are mentioned, they simply signify that's what the opposition is hoping will happen.

Just a few days ago, the Republicans reported they had been collecting money, in small lots, at a rate which was making them very happy. Recently, their party, chairman, Mr. Hamilton, bought radio time to discuss contemporary problems on the air. These are signs of life.

Next week, the Democrats in congress—407 of them—will have a three day outing at the Democratic Fish and Gun club, on an island in Chesapeake bay. President Roosevelt will be there, and the congressmen will have a chance to talk with him personally.

It will be a great experience for all of them, unless, of course, someone draws up a chair to chin awhile over what Mr. Roosevelt's going to do about those senators on the judiciary committee who used all that smoking language of rebuke when they rejected his court bill. Enough little annoyances like that, if allowed to accumulate, might really split the party some day.

Purge.

Dictionary makers of the future will be adding a new meaning to the word "purge," used as a transitive verb.

In a general sense, it means to cleanse by separating and carrying off impurities. In a legal sense, it means to clear from guilt or liability. In medicine, it implies treatment by means of a cathartic.

The point is, none of the world's accepted meanings covers its new political meaning. In politics, to purge means to clear away obstacles. It is what dictators do when they become intoxicated with power and frantic with ambition.

It is what the Windrifs, the Haiks and the Saracens did to one another in Sinclair Lewis's "It Can't Happen Here." It is what Hitler did to his friends when they threatened to grow unruly. It is what Premier Mussolini has been obliged to do to save his regime.

Currently, it is what Josef Stalin is doing in Soviet Russia, where hundreds are being killed outright, thousands are being maimed and millions are cringing under the threat of political terrorism.

Yes, purge has a new meaning which overshadows all the others.

Next in Line.

When Rep. William P. Connery of Massachusetts died suddenly a few days ago, Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey was next in line for chairmanship of the house labor committee. Mrs. Norton promptly said she would accept the position. It belonged to her by right of seniority.

Sixteen years ago Mrs. Norton was elected vice chairman of the state Democratic committee of New Jersey. She served until 1932, when she was elected chairman. In the meantime, she had been busy. She went to Democratic national con-

Mediators Command Respect

BY WALTER LITTMANN

CONSIDERING the temper around the plants of the independent steel companies, the appointment of a mediation board was urgently necessary. On both sides the struggle is degenerating from an ordinary strike into class warfare.

The board chosen by Secretary Perkins with the president's approval should command the instant confidence of all reasonable citizens. Mr. McGrawdy is perhaps the most experienced conciliator in the country. Dean Lloyd K. Garrison is a man of the highest intellectual integrity. Of Mr. Charles F. Taft, the chairman of the board, it might be said that he is just about exemplified the political philosophy and the social sympathies which the leaders of American conciliation will have to acquire if they are to recover their influence.

The board is admirably balanced and truly representative of the range of opinion within which moderate men stand.

Under the law the board has no power to compel an agreement. It cannot enforce its judgments in the law courts. But in the court of public opinion its judgments will be awaited with the conviction that if by honest inquiry the truth can be found, if justice is to be had by fairness, the verdict of this board is to be trusted. Those who resist its moral authority will at once discredit their own cause.

Those who seek by violent or provocative actions, by rhetorical and elaborate pronouncements, to prejudice the public against a verdict, will identify themselves as men who do not wish to settle these issues by the method of reason, but by force.

The best way for belligerents to show their good faith is to declare a moratorium in the strike regions, to postpone, at least until the board has had its chance, all plans for opening the plants by force or for closing them by sympathetic strikes.

The composition of the board is a reassuring sign after a long season of high-handed behavior. Its appointment is the first important action taken in Washington since the President's second inauguration in which the spirit of personal government through a party dictatorship has been renounced. It is literally the first move made since January which recognizes the value of representative government and seeks to deal with a major issue in a national, as distinct from a factional, temper.

It is at least an agreeable interlude, and with a little magnanimity on both sides it might be much more than an interlude. Copyright, 1937, New York Tribune, Inc.

Science Attacks The Atom

BY RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH, June 19.—Preliminary results which may ultimately revolutionize the course of civilization, American industry today is marshalling its vast resources for an attack upon science's greatest unknown—the atom.

For years scientists have dreamed of smashing the atom, that mysterious formation which has never been seen, but which is known to constitute 99 per cent of all the mass of the earth, planets, and stars. Stories without number have been written for the edification of the layman, detailing the great power inherent in one atom, minute matter believed composed of electrically charged particles. The energy inherent in one gram of water, it has been said, is sufficient, if harnessed, to drive the Queen Mary across the ocean.

Intensive Survey Launched

Up to the present, investigation into the mysteries of the atom have been conducted entirely by college laboratories or by a few small institutional groups. Now, for the first time, a great industrial combination will pour its powerful resources into a determined effort to solve the mysteries of science's greatest frontier.

Work will immediately be begun, it was announced by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, towards installing equipment and starting work on a project of disintegrating the atom, hoping to solve much of the mystery surrounding the structure of matter.

A special laboratory has already been set aside in Westinghouse's Research Laboratories at East Pittsburgh and new equipment to provide the highest possible controlled direct voltages for the work is in process of design.

Special Generator Designed

For this revolutionary project an electrostatic generator capable of providing direct current potentials of 5,000,000 volts is now in process of design. Furthermore, it is hoped that after studying the effects developed by the application of 5,000,000 volts to go beyond that peak.

The "atom smashing" equipment will be housed in a huge pen-shaped tank 30 feet in diameter and 47 feet high now under construction at the Westinghouse research laboratories. The tank will contain compressed air of 150 pounds to the square inch providing an additional insulation for the 5,000,000 volt electrostatic generator which will accelerate the passage of streams of ions down a vacuum tube located in the center of the giant mechanism. At either side of the vacuum tube will be fabric belts which will generate direct current voltage.

Start of Experiment

When the generator is ready for experimentation, the 5,000,000 volts of electricity will be directed at a substance such as steel, placed at the mouth of the atom smasher. At it will be directed atomic particles, ionized particles of gas, all positively charged.

When the atomic contents have been split the resultant substance will be tested to determine what happened in the bombardment.

Nearly every aspect of this new research program involves scientific achievement. The atom smashing equipment able to sustain the high voltages sought is not yet completely established. Also, air pressures will be almost to the ultimate now deemed safe in such large vessels and the degree of vacuum in long tubes which the research scientists will seek to attain is also something that must be determined by experiment.

High Voltage Generator

The generation of such extremely high voltage is being sought for experimental use in the field of the unknown. Very little is known about such direct voltages due to the fact almost all previous research has been in the field of alternating current high voltages. The attaining of such steady voltages, of 5,000,000 and above, will enable the research engineers to secure fundamental information in this relatively unexplored field.

Another of the problems faced by the engineers is the development of a vacuum tube, in which the atomic bombardment will take place, to withstand voltages in excess of 5,000,000. By process of experimentation in the course of their study Westinghouse scientists are confident they will develop such a tube.

The ultimate result of the project cannot be foreseen and it is not possible to predict what practical applications may result from the fundamental knowledge gained, said Dr. L. W. Chubb, director of the Westinghouse Research Laboratories.

Tremendous Possibilities

It is the possibilities inherent in such research that are responsible for the decision of Westinghouse to embark in this new field, he explained.

As an historic example he pointed to the development of the radio industry, a billion dollar business which has radically affected the everyday life of civilization. It was only when science discovered how to control electrons that this great industry became possible.

The entire electrical industry, he pointed out, has been built step by step by various similar discoveries after which engineers learned how to control and put such forces to work.

Discoveries Only Recent

Discoveries in the new field of nuclear research go back only a few years. The neutron, artificial radio activity, heavy hydrogen and the positive electron have been discovered since 1931.

These triumphs, to scientists, have only indicated the fact that there is hidden in nuclear research other nuggets of pure scientific gold waiting to be mined if the way can be found to their hiding places.

Ohio was greatly interested in the quarrel which led to the war of 1812. The northwest frontier ran through Ohio and the settlers believed England was largely responsible for the repeated Indian attacks made upon them.

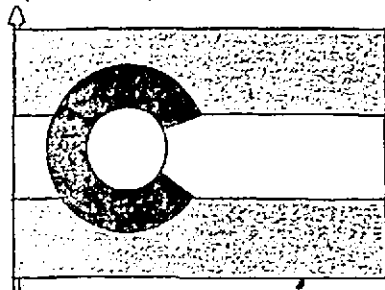

Thus when finally war was declared, June 18, 1812, many "westerners" concluded that their turn of revenge had arrived. They marched to Detroit, fought on Lake Erie, defeated the fleets in northwestern Ohio, and finally invaded Canada and won the battle of the Thames.

Federal Tax Inequities

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1937, By The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Perhaps intending only to sensationalize tax avoidance and evasion, the inquiry just begun by a congressional committee to discover just why the citizen is developing toward his government a strange feeling of hostility.

Theoretically all citizens must obey the law, but it does happen that, when a law is unfair, inequitable and vicious, the people begin to nullify it. The most conspicuous example of this, of course, was the attitude of many citizens during the late prohibition era.

There is, of course, no possible justification for the person who evades the law. There may be plenty of justification for the person who avoids the tax laws; as a matter of fact, there may some day be logic on the side of the citizens of the District of Columbia, for instance, if they even go so far as to refuse to obey the tax laws imposed upon them.

Our forefathers dumped a lot of tea in Massachusetts bay and refused to pay a stamp tax because they said "taxation without representation is tyranny." Today the congress of the United States is about to impose a vicious tax system on the people of the city of Washington and this, too, without granting the people of the national capital the right to vote for members of congress through whom their views could be expressed directly on the floors of both houses of congress. If ever there was a justification for tax avoidance, it is to be found right here at the seat of government.

Sirs Resentment

But there are citizens outside the national capital who also may feel aggrieved as they learn more and more about the unfairness of the taxation policies of the national administration. Any administration which blunts refusal even to listen to the pleas of hardship growing out of inequitable and unshoulders, so to speak, and says, "Oh well we need the revenue, it is due for a disillusionment and awakening some day."

Take the case of the undistributed surplus taxes, one of the most unfair and destructive tax levies ever introduced. Small business are rapidly being broken down by it while strong monopolies reap the benefit. Protest after protest has come to Washington, but influential members of the congressional finance committees say "Indifferent," "but the government needs the revenue."

Paraphrased this means: "We, the national administration, exercise the right to do as we please to the citizen, even to the extent of ruining his business, and while the law may work a hardship, we need the money for boondoggling just the same."

It may be—and likely is—a press agent drawing a long bow, but I have several times read of a notorious playboy calling up a dizzy night club from a French seaside resort to hear the orchestra play his favorite tune. Such

Under such circumstances, the citizen says to himself: "The government is unfair—I'll beat the game if I can."

Members of congress and of the executive branch of the government who lately have been criticizing the citizenry for alleged lack of morality and defects in patriotism because of tax avoidance know in their hearts that this is the sheerest hypocrisy and that there isn't a single man inside the government who doesn't take all the deductions the law allows or doesn't contrive to get the better of the tax collector by legal means.

Inequities as well as injustices are numerous. They are well known to all who have studied the tax rulings of the government under this and past administrations. The theory has been that the taxpayer is always wrong and that the government is always right. The king-can-do-no-wrong idea has nowhere been more slavishly worshipped than in the treasury department in applying the income tax laws. Equity is an unknown virtue and asset-the-taxpayer because we need the revenue is now the rule rather than the exception.

Another serious practice is the way the precedents have been built up and the refusal of congress or the bureau of internal revenue to reverse themselves when a mistake has been clearly demonstrated. Take, for instance, the question of business deductions. Interest on a loan at the bank is deductible as a business expense. But if the bank demands that a key executive or inventor or someone who is an asset to the business should have his life insured to protect the loan so that the bank might be reimbursed if a valuable personal asset is suddenly lost by accident, the business must take out such a policy and bear the expense.

An Entrancing Chaise Lounge

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 19.—In one of those plays as aloof and polite as a private lake this winter I saw a chaise lounge which was the only piece of household furniture I ever coveted. Enormously long, low hung and deeply cushioned, it swept up into a swirl of majestic gilt headboard that spelt grandeur.

The play was nothing, but I went back three times to see what after all, shucked off of pretty language, was just a beautiful big divan. I found it belonged to a famous collection, was rented and the sale price was prohibitive. So I had a copyist, with the owners' consent, turn out a cheaper version.

It came this morning. And all day I've tried to be languid, stretching out on it in my purple house robe from Chateau in Place Vendome, aching to look pale and interesting. And hoping somebody would drop in to impress me. I could stretch forth a wan hand and murmur "So good of you, really."

I'd like also to have long wavy locks to trickle my fingers through. But that's out. There's scarcely a thin skin left. I have a morbid admiration for sickly languor. I've often longer to be a sort of Camille, but the nearest I ever got to it was to recuperate from the mumps on grandma's horse hair sofa.

It may be—and likely is—a press agent drawing a long bow, but I have several times read of a notorious playboy calling up a dizzy night club from a French seaside resort to hear the orchestra play his favorite tune. Such

America Faces New System

The ideal of "planned economy" lies behind much of the new deal program. What does planned economy mean? What are the problems connected with it? Preston Grover, Washington columnist for The Star explains in a series of three articles, the first of which follows.

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The country has taken several tentative steps in the direction of a planned economy, and before it takes further steps, some of which already are envisaged, the public should be shown the problems involved and the changes entailed.

A planned economy is held to be a national program with exact defined objectives in regard to a haphazard progress in respect to economic and social progress. That way it sounds, and it is, but getting it is a long another parlor.

Under a planned economy, production of industry would be governed by a plan instead of being left wholly to the influence of prices and markets.

Under a fully planned production system, each industry's output would be set by a national planning board.

There are hundreds of industries, thousands of factories. To make certain of each one's right production to fill all needs and provide adequate jobs, quotas appear to have to be assigned to each industry and to each factory. Prices in turn would be set at level to insure demand for all production. If the board could accurately arrive at such a goal the plan likely would work.

But how could it? Could it control demand, or even predict it? Changes in weather, in styles, in public moods, and scores of other factors cause demand to fluctuate. Yet if a planned production is to work factories must produce according to schedule else a spiraling cycle of unemployment results just as under the present unregulated system.

To preserve harmony in planned production, undoubtedly a central governing board would have to be in control. Socialists say this system could not survive in the face of such centralized authority. And many economists agree with them.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday, June 19, 1927. Rev. E. J. Moore, D. D., of Columbus, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League spoke at Epworth M. E. church. Probation, he said, has proven a success and will prove still more successful in the future. He blamed wet politicians and wet officials for preventing strict nationwide enforcement.

Basing his sermon on "Lest Ye Be Tempted to Fall," David, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church gave the four laws for success, namely, vision, preparation, courage and service.

Thirty-five members of the American Legion, Legion auxiliary, 40, et al., and Spanish American war veterans entertained a group of 75 children at the Soldiers' and Sailors' orphan home at Zena.

Pounding the ball all over the lot for sixteen hits, the Madras Athletics defeated the Vow First of Columbus 13 to 2 in a game at Lincoln park. Marion's batter was Main and Brashear. In a game at Kinton, the Marion Post team lost to the Kenton Reds ten to three.

It was Tuesday, June 19, 1927. Special dispatches from London reported King Alfonso's speech throne was tottering as movements for a republic gained strength.

Mac Cookson of Meeker, who was badly injured when he was tackled by an angry bull at a farm house Hickman of Laton, was taken to hospital.

The wedding of Miss Mabel Gladys Crawley and Rex H. Ransom was solemnized at 8:30 a. m. at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Swank, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left for a wedding trip through southern Michigan.

One hundred workers made plans to launch a drive for Marion county's quota of $100,000 for the national Red Cross campaign for $100,000,000. Judge Grant M. Mouser, Marion county clerk, chairman, was in charge of the drive here.

SERVANTS FIRST: And whoever of you will be the chief shall be servant of all.—Matt. 10: 44

It is far better in such emergency, in my opinion, than even is over the radio or on the screen and stage. There is a great deal of great artistry in John when he lets himself go before a small and appreciative audience. And at other times he will appear hopelessly mawkish.

I was thinking today that, over the revolution, I'd like to see the guillotine in the same town with somebody who expressed his placidity and magnificent serenity of Chief Justice Hughes. See how I don't imagine I'd go to the guillotine well, but one can't mean and write his words in the presence of such a sight.

Bride's Home Scene of Eichhorn-Kyle Marriage Service

THE home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Eichhorn of the Marion-Columbus road was the scene of a pretty wedding this morning when their daughter, Josephine E. Eichhorn, became the bride of Lemar Kyle, son of Mrs. Dorothy Kyle of Prospect. The single ring service of the Methodist Episcopal church was read by Dr. C. E. Tuttle of Wilmington, former pastor of Epworth M. E. church here, at 11 o'clock.

A large white wicker basket filled with white gladioli and banked with palms and greenery formed an improvised altar in the living room, before which the couple stood to exchange their vows. Candelabra holding lighted white tapers were at either side, completing the decorative note. Decorations throughout the rooms were in pastel shades. Preceding the ceremony Robert Campbell of Marion played a program of nuptial songs and Miss Martha Mautz, also of Marion, sang.

Mr. Campbell played "Prelude in G Sharp Minor," Bachmannoff, "Scene from Goyescas," by Granados, and for the processional the "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." During the ceremony he played "O Perfect Love." Miss Mautz' numbers were "Calm as the Night," Brahms, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," Stulitz, "I Love You Truly," Bond and "All for You," Brown.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a redingote model of white lace over a white satin formal made with a stand-up collar. The skirt was graduated into a short train and her shoulder-length veil of tulle was fashioned in a cap effect. She carried white roses and gypsophila with tufts of white mallow.

The matron of honor was costumed in a gown of turquoise blue lace trimmed in light pink and carried Johanna Hill roses, gypsophila and pale pink carnations.

Mrs. Eichhorn wore a gown of coronation blue sheer and the bridegroom's mother wore blue chiffon with a matching cape. Both wore shoulder corages of handkerchief.

Following the ceremony there was a reception and luncheon for 70 guests. Later Mr. and Mrs. Kyle left on a wedding trip to northern Michigan, Canada and the Great Lakes. For traveling the bride wore a black sheer frock with white trimming and a white shawl jacket with a white belt trimmed in black patent. Her shoulder corage was white roses. They will be at home after July 1 at 255 Hubbard avenue in Columbus.

Mrs. Kyle was graduated from the Pleasant Township High school, and nurses' training school at White Cross hospital in Columbus in 1935. She is employed in the X-ray and laboratory department at the Columbus clinic. Mr. Kyle was graduated from the Prospect High school and is employed as an electrical welder at the Jeffrey Mfg. Co. plant in Columbus.

Vaughan-Maaske Vows Read at Epworth M.E. Church Today

THE marriage of Miss Jayne Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Vaughan of Pleasant Acres, and George Maaske, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Maaske of Mayville, Wis., took place this morning at 11:30 o'clock. In Epworth M. E. church. Closed church was observed for the single ring ceremony read by the pastor, Dr. E. T. Waring.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. George L. Murr of Lakewood, Clarence Maaske of Madison, Wis., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The bride's close, Polly Brobst, attended her as flower girl.

The bride was escorted to the altar and was given in marriage by her father. She chose for the ceremony a gown of beige marquisette over rose, with which were harmonizing accessories and her flowers were an arm bouquet of Tallian roses. She carried a lace handkerchief, an heirloom in her mother's family, and which previously had been carried by her grandmother, her mother and her sister, Mrs. Paul Brobst. Mrs. Murr was in a yellow lace dress with harmonizing accessories and her bouquet was a bouquet of delphinium. The little flower girl wore a frock of green orzandy with a headband of daisies. Mrs. Vaughan was costumed in a gown of brown net with which she wore accessories in an orchid shade, and an orchid corsage.

Baskets of field daisies in yellow and white with a background of palms and other greenery banked the altar and were the only decorations in the church. For the processional she played Wagner's "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin," and during the service "O Perfect Love," and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice." For the recessional she played "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

There was a small reception at the church and later Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan were host and hostess at a breakfast for 30 at their home. Pastel flowers were used to decorate the rooms, and for the table centerpiece. The table was lighted with tapers held in silver candelabra.

LAWRENCE CRITICAL OF TAX INEQUITIES

Yet the treasury doesn't allow a deduction for the cost of carrying on business but for years the treasury has refused to recognize the simple fact that such a claim for deduction is a deduction.

Another example of this kind of thinking may be cited. For instance, is it chiefly because of an unwillingness to grant a human being, with limited earning power, as different from a business or manufacturing concern, which may take depreciation on plant and equipment as a business expense?

Margaret Mitchell, who wrote "Gone With the Wind" had a large estate when she passed away. She left a large sum of money, but she acquired $100,000, she would have to give half of it to the government in taxes. She doesn't want to be taxed every year for a factory does automobiles. The government regards her estate as something to be penalized while the manufacturer takes depreciation as an expense on his plant or equipment. The mental picture of the human being as having power, to be sure, but which may be curtailed by illness or death, but the earned income is taxed virtually the same as the unearned income which comes out of clipping coupons of inherited wealth.

Mr. Roosevelt, for instance, inherited a substantial income. He didn't have to work for it as did other men in America, but the government men who rose out of the slums by dint of hard work must give the government virtually the same amount of taxes on their earnings as do the coupon clipper. There is, of course, a small profit on the present tax system for earned as distinguished from unearned incomes, but it is infinitesimal.

Then take the situation with respect to charity deductions. A man might contribute money to a church in Hindustan or to some local welfare agency of limited scope and yet get a legal deduction, but if he contributes the same amount of money to a vital thing like the national civil service reform league, which attempts to fight the "spoils" system and similar concerns in the heart of democracy, no such deduction is allowed.

But the records are filled with examples of injustice and unfairness. Most of the mistakes are due to the failure of congress to write fair tax laws. The income tax personnel itself is honest and well intentioned but hindered by tax statutes. There is hardly a thing which will be uncovered in the series of tax avoidance cases to be disclosed in the present inquiry which hasn't been known to congressional committees for the last ten years. Congress has known all along the loopholes, but it has ignored something far more fundamental—the principle of equity and fairness which, if abused, merely leads to tax avoidance on a large scale and ultimately to nullification.

Human beings resent unfair laws—they always have and they always will—and they may not come day regard it as falling from a virtue to daily an unconscionable administration, especially one that spends its money and its powers on one group to the detriment of the other and actually denies the tax paying group a voice in the government. The old slogan that "taxation without representation is tyranny" was never better illustrated than in the case of being turned to the small business men who are asked to pay burdensome and inequitable taxes today as the monopolistically inclined, with unearned surpluses, stand by awaiting the inevitable bankruptcies or receivership of their weaker competitors.

OBTAINS NEW TYPE CAMERA

Adds Equipment To Meet Demand of Business Houses for Pictures.

With Industries, business and merchandising houses rapidly turning to the use of photography in advertising to place their wares before the public, pictures are now playing an ever more important part in the lives of Americans.

This general trend, moving rapidly within recent times, has affected Marion merchants, business men and manufacturers as well as those in other parts of the country. As a result the service of a commercial photographer are becoming more valuable daily.

In response to this situation the Hughes Photo Service at 125 South Main street is constantly adding to its equipment in order to meet the growing demand and at the same time turn out better pictures.

This week the Hughes Service purchased a new commercial camera for use in both indoor and outdoor work. The camera, made by the largest photographic manufacturing company in the United States, is the latest model of its kind on the market. It embodies a number of new features that permit a photographer to obtain excellent photographs under difficult working conditions. It is a camera that gets a picture that "tells the story" of the article or scene being photographed.

In addition to the new camera the Hughes Service has added considerable laboratory equipment that permits turning out the highest quality of work.

Many of the commercial pictures made by the Hughes Service are taken in the studio where a new battery of spotlights and floodlights has been installed to provide perfect lighting conditions. For all commercial photographs special lenses are adaptable to this type of work are used to assure a sharp, clear, detailed picture that will make an excellent fine engraving or electrotype for reproduction in magazines or newspapers.

The Hughes Photo Service is successor to the former Bauer Studio, operated here for many years by the Adam Bauer. Dale Hughes, the present proprietor, bought the studio two years ago and since that time has developed the commercial phase of the business to a remarkable degree. Among his customers are listed not only Marion merchants but companies in many cities at a considerable distance from Marion.

In the last two years many Hughes pictures have appeared in advertisements in magazines of national circulation. Others now are being prepared and will appear within the next few weeks in magazines of both exclusive and general circulation.

Portrait, Amateur Work
In addition to the commercial work the Hughes Service turns out a large volume of amateur development and printing and takes many of the portraits made in Marion. The studio is especially busy at this season with pictures of brides and wedding parties.

To keep pace with the growing popularity of amateur photography, especially with the new miniature cameras, the Hughes Service this spring installed an enlarger for the miniature negatives. The machine, built for production work, enables the studio to make enlargements at a price comparable with the cost of contact prints from the average sized amateur negative.

An idea of the size of the list of patients built up by Dr. Dennis in the last 15 years may be gained from the fact that each year he examines 15,000 persons by letter to determine if their present glasses are satisfactory in the best assurance of good eye sight. He recommends that all persons have their eyes examined at least every two years.

The product of optical companies that have built worldwide reputations are found in the stock room of Dr. Dennis' office. Among these are Bosch & Lomb, Orthogon, Panoptic Bifocals, and American Optical Co. Shutter lenses that have gained wide popularity also are carried.

In fact, Dr. Dennis carries only the recognized optical merchandise and all work is guaranteed to be satisfactory to the patient.

Screens that filter out light rays invisible or seen poorly by human eyes have been invented for meters used to test useful illumination from neon, sodium and mercury lamps.

Jennings Brake Service Has Well-Equipped Shop

New equipment for frame and axle straightening and for all types of brake service and repair has made the Jennings Brake Service at 412 West Center street exceptionally well prepared to take care those needs for Marion automobiles and truck owners.

The firm now offers motorist and truck owners four principal services—wheel straightening, complete brake service including testing, and drum truing, frame and axle straightening and wheel alignment.

While brake testing equipment has been operated by the firm for several years an entirely new type of machine has been installed at the West Center street location. This machine tests pressure on brake drums under actual road conditions. In making a test the machine is driven onto a platform at any desired speed and the brakes applied. As the brakes engage against the wheel drums the exact pressure on each wheel is recorded on a dial. There are no motors to turn wheels against the lath as in other types of testers. By the use of this machine the Jennings mechanics can adjust the brakes so that the same pressure is applied on each wheel, thereby eliminating the danger of "grabbing" and sideways when brakes are applied suddenly.

Another important feature of the service offered by the Jennings shop is wheel alignment. The shop is equipped with tools for aligning wheels on cars using the conventional front axle or independent suspension. Excessive tire wear, hard steering and "shimmy" are eliminated when wheels are properly aligned and these three things usually are the first indication of improper alignment.

The true drum lath is another important item in the shop's equipment. The device corrects out-of-round drums that cause jumpy brakes and remove scores from the drum that result in excessive wear of brake bands.

For axle and frame straightening the Jennings Service used the Clear Cat equipment by which bent parts can be returned to their proper shape and alignment without removal from the car or the use of heat.

However, April's 1937 accident record was an improvement over the preceding month. March, when 661 motor vehicle mishaps were reported on state highways outside municipalities—29 more than were reported for April. Deaths also showed a drop of eight—25 for April against 33 for March.

SUNNY EXPOSURE FOR DINING ROOM
The ideal location for the dining room, or where there is one, the breakfast room is on the southeast corner. Two glass windows for breakfast and luncheon; and dinner is usually eaten under artificial light, a western location is not necessary. That is best reserved for some other room that needs it.

Despite the almost universal adoption of the metric system at most 1,500 different systems of weights and measures are in use in the world.

MARION BOOKS WELLS' COMEDY

The Man Who Could Work Miracles To Be Shown Tuesday, Wednesday.

Edward Young's rib-tickling comedy, "The Man Who Could Work Miracles," written by H. G. Wells, is on the Marion screen Tuesday and Wednesday with an outstanding cast. "California Trail," which has a perfect role of a young English draper's clerk who suddenly became aware that he has the power to work miracles. There is only one miracle he can himself: he is making a fortune and that is making a fortune. He falls in love with him. He is drunk with power, the power to take his life into his own hands and in the end he causes hundreds of people to appear in a great hall and bawls them out, commanding the world to be still—with results that only H. G. Wells could imagine. Alexander Kennedy who produced Wells' first screen effect, the spectacular "The Man Who Could Work Miracles" in 1901, also did the production of this comedy.

Sunday-Monday double bill with Jack Holt's romance in "Trouble in Morocco," and a Johnny Mack Brown romance western, "Trail of Vengeance," in which the Western hero is Iris Meredith for his lead role. In the east of "Trouble in Morocco," are Mae Clarke, C. Henry Gordon, Victor Varco, and hundreds of extras playing members of the French Foreign Legion. Holt, a foreign news correspondent for an American syndicate, is in the lead. He is a rival of the banding and tricks her into believing that she is en route to Morocco to cover exclusively a big smuggling story. He takes her to his room and she cannot leave him too closely, and leaves in Africa. Holt gets into a mess immediately with a New York gangster who is serving a term as a private in the Legion. The newspaperman is literally carried into the Legion, and when the girl arrives on the scene, she is refused to identify him. The story gains impetus when Holt takes up with the smugglers in an attempt to leave the Legion and "breaks" the story with the girl finally helping him.

"Motor Madness," featuring Rosalind Russell, Allen Jones, and "Motor Madness," starring Gene Autry with Smiley Burnette and Armina in support, will be shown Thursday through Saturday. "Motor Madness" tells the story of a young motorboat racing driver who refuses a bribe to throw an important race he is to drive for his father. A fight ensues and he finds himself in jail when the Coast Guard arrives on the scene. His girl drives the first race, runs the boat into a buoy and is seriously injured. In a desperate attempt to get money for the girl's operation, the young man drives two fugitives from jail and out to a ship beyond the 12-mile limit and is arrested as an accomplice. Affairs are adjusted however, to the satisfaction of justice and Cupid.

STATE BRINGS BACK 'COLLEEN'

"Colleen," the romantic musical comedy starring Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell, will return to the State Sunday and Monday. Paul Bender, one of the better tappers, and Miss Keeler do some intricate dancing, and Miss Keeler and Powell make a romantic sweetheart team. Hugh Herbert and his energetic nephew Powell, manage a little housing many commercial enterprises. Among them is a rapidly rising modiste show owned by Miss Albern, in which Miss Keeler is employed. The girl and nephew fall in love. Jack Oakie, in love with Miss Keeler, keeps a nutty Hugh Herbert safely caged for a time and then succeeds in convincing him that the only way to save the modiste show is to take it over and put Joan Blondell, a candy factory goddess who interests Herbert, in charge. Oakie, resentful of losing his girl to Powell, stirs up a mess of trouble and in the end the song and dance numbers are brought into the picture. "Dodge City Trail" will be shown on the same bill.

Sure and debonair George Arliss goes hobo in a ragged way in "Motor Madness," one of his English-made pictures which will return Tuesday and Wednesday on a double-feature program with a Buck Jones action drama, "Sand Flow." Arliss is presented with the usual panoply of grand characters. Arliss, a lovable vagabond, is befriended by Viola Keats, his companion, Gene Gerrard, is a crook, and it develops that Arliss' family name is Rothschild and it is assumed he is related to the famous banking family. A shady financier attempts to unload his bankrupt bank to a new president and Arliss accepts, assuming that the man is attempting to swindle Miss Keats. Arliss' only hope is to retrieve the girl's fortune. His fake suicide causes a stock market crash that ruins a financier and during the panic the two vagabonds buy back the girl's stocks and become fabulously wealthy, but gives everything back to the girl and heads south, happy to be once more just hobo.

TRIO OF FUNSTERS IN PALACE SHOW

Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley and Rosina Lawrence, above, are the trio of funmakers in "Pick A Star," booked for the Palace three days, starting Sunday. A stage show, "Monte Carlo Revue," will be a Sunday-only attraction.

Stage Show, Comedy Open Week's Program At Palace

"Pick A Star" on Screen Sunday Through Tuesday; Stage Revue on Sunday Only.

Four new pictures and a stage show make for an interesting week of entertainment at the Palace. The stage show, "Monte Carlo Revue," will be on the stage Sunday only. Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley and Rosina Lawrence head the cast of the Sunday-Tuesday picture, "Pick A Star," a full-length comedy presented by Hal Roach. Mischa Auer, Lydia Roberti, Johnny Hays and Laurel & Hardy, head the supporting cast.

Miss Lawrence wins an on-to-Hollywood contest; about three minutes after the promoter abandons with the receipts and her prize money. Haley, the boy friend, knows she can make good so he sells his garage and heads west to pave the way. Miss Lawrence and her boydenish wise-cracking sister, Patsy, sets about arranging her to Hollywood and the impetuous Patsy sets about arranging her sister's career. The story takes the audience into one of the largest studios on the west coast.

Lee Tracy, whose rapid-fire portrayals have won him favor with the fans, takes the role of a radio reporter in "Behind the Headlines," the Wednesday picture.

With a tiny transmitter set in his pocket and a loud microphone, he accepts his newspaper rivals by broadcasting news flashes direct from the scene of action. Diana Gibson has the feminine lead as a newspaper gal on Tracy's rival paper. The story reaches its climax when Miss Gibson stumbles into gangster plans for holding up a government truck with a cargo of bullion and is kidnapped to prevent her disclosing the scheme. Robert Montgomery plays a role side of the pond. Glenda Farrell, Robert Armstrong and Edward Everett Horton head the cast of "Little Big Shot," which will be shown Thursday through Saturday. On the same bill will be a Rex Lease-Rin Tin Tin Jr. western, "Silver Trail," "Little Big Shot," Sybil's first American picture. It is a story with the picturesque and colorful Great White Way as a background, depicting the lives of the denizens who make their living by their wits, and come by gangster methods. However, it is not a gangster picture.

TWO STARS IN FILM AT OHIO

Don Ameche, Ann Sothern Co-Starring in "Fifty Roads to Town."

Marked by a blizzard in a mountain lodge, with only a stuffed mouse as chaperone and caviar and crackers for food, is the romantic predicament of Don Ameche and Ann Sothern, two of the screen's personable younger players in their co-starring picture, "Fifty Roads to Town," which opened yesterday at the Ohio.

A double bill, "Wings of the Morning," in technicolor, and a Richard Arlen action drama, "Secret Valley," will follow on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Supporting Ameche and Miss Sothern are Slim Summerville, Jane Darwell, John Qualen, Allan Lane, Douglas Fowley, Alan Dinehart and Stepin Fetchit.

The stars are fugitives, Ameche from being mixed up in a divorce case and Miss Sothern from marrying a millionaire of her family's choice. They seek refuge in the hills and both wind up at the same cabin. A radio announcement that police are seeking a dangerous kidnaper in his mountain hideout leads the girl to suspect Ameche. By the time they get their real identities straightened out a heavy snowfall makes it appear likely that they will be snowed in for the winter and to complicate matters, the couple realize they are falling in love. The arrival of the real kidnaper and the subsequent attack of a sheriff's posse bring the story to a climax.

Annabella, a vivid new screen personality from France, will be seen in "Wings of the Morning," playing opposite Henry Fonda and Leslie Banks. John McCormack, world-famous tenor, is presented in the film, which tells of the romance of a lovely fugitive fleeing from war-torn Spain.

The spectacular changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, the sensational English Derby with Jockey Steve Donoghue riding his most thrilling race and McCormack singing the song of Ireland that made him famous are a few of the highlights of the film, which is all in technicolor.

Annabella appears in a prologue as a kooky princess who brings a curse on her descendants for three generations by marrying into the English nobility. Modern times bring Annabella as the great-granddaughter, fleeing from Spain to quiet Ireland where she can train her horse, "Wings of the Morning" for the English Derby. Victory would provide her with a dowry to marry her Spanish fiancé, Fonda, a young Irish trainer, also has a Derby candidate but he falls in love with the girl, trains "Wings" and gives a party for her at which McCormack sings. When her jockey breaks his leg Fonda arranges for his own jockey, the celebrated Donoghue, to ride "Wings." A surprising conclusion in which the great-grandmother makes her last smiling gesture, paves the way for happiness for the girl and Fonda, after the running of the most thrilling Derby in English turf history.

"Secret Valley" was made from a Harold Bell Wright novel, with Virginia Grey in the leading feminine role. The story concerns Richard Arlen, a ranch owner who permits a young girl to seek seclusion

INDIANS DROP 5-4 BATTLE TO RED SOX; REDS ROUT HUBBELL

Cincinnati Drives Giant Hurler from Mound in 5-3 Win.

By SID FREDER
Associated Press Writer
This baseball business gets funnier and funnier.

For weeks, a club will stagger along with a pitching staff that's a "cousin" for every other outfit in the league. Then from the same set of elbows, the same club will come up with a group of starters who are murder to the opposition.

Take the recent cases of the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Red Sox. Only two weeks ago, the gas house gang, with Dizzy Dean doing most of the heavy duty, had dropped to fourth place. The Red Sox, with Lefty Grove slowing up and Wes Ferrell faltering, were under 500 per cent and deep in the second division.

Suddenly, both clubs have become the hottest in their respective leagues, all because of the mysterious coming to life of a pitching "big three" on each outfit.

Carl Hubbell Strides
Lon Warneke hit a winning stride and Rookie Bob Welland uncovered a lot of southpaw ability to help Dean. As a result, the Cards have won 11 of their last 13 starts and are now in third place, only a game and a half back of the faltering second-place Giants.

The Red Sox have taken six of their last seven games. They shot into fourth place yesterday with a 5-4 win over the slipping Cleveland Indians.

Welland had an eight-strike-out performance as the gas house gang clubbed the Boston Bees 5-2, yesterday.

For the Red Sox, Fritz Ostermuller bowed out in the seventh inning, but the Sox came from behind anyway to win their fifth straight.

The Cincinnati Reds drove Carl Hubbell from the hill in less than three innings for a 5-3 win behind Lee Grissom. The setback sank the Giants to a full-game back of the National league-leading Cubs.

Hammering Hank Returns

MAKING A GREAT COMEBACK AFTER HIS 1936 INJURY

OLD MAN JINX continues to twist the Detroit Tigers' tail, and that last injury to Mike Cochrane probably sounded the death knell of the Bengals' 1937 fling hopes.

The deep purple clouds that hang over Detroit do have a silver lining, however. This shaft of light in the darkness is the gallant comeback of Hank Greenberg, slugging first baseman of the Striped Cats.

Hank was out almost all of last season with a busted right hip, which many thought would never mend properly. This big fellow used to hang around the ball park with his arm in a cast and a doleful look on his honest pan. Even he didn't know whether his rumpbone would ever regain its former strength and resiliency.

After the cast was taken off, X-rays appeared to show that the break had mended cleanly, but Hank was still a doubtful quantity when the 1937 spring training campaign got under way.

It didn't take Greenberg long to prove that you can't keep a good man down. His ailing arm appears to have returned to normal, and he is hammering the Sox like a home run machine. He is hitting right up at the top in home run hitting and runs batted in.

FOSTORIA GETS NEW MANAGER FOR NINE

Special to The Star
FOSTORIA, June 19—The second managerial change among teams in the Ohio State baseball league came yesterday with the announcement that George "Red" Jenkins, veteran left-handed pitcher, will take the helm of the Fostoria Red Birds. He was named to temporarily succeed Johnny Cavanaugh, who resigned. The Red Birds have suffered 21 defeats in 23 starts and in their first game under Jenkins lost to Mansfield Red Sox, 12 to 5. The only previous change in managers in the league came when Al Eckert of Detroit succeeded Emilio Palmero as head of the Tiffin Mud-hens.

THREE OTHER TEAMS PLAY OUT OF TOWN, DIGGERS LIST GAME

Vance's A. C. Club, Castings and Colored Club Go on Road.

Marion's baseball teams will be in action on home and foreign diamonds tomorrow, according to week-end schedules announced by managers of the clubs this week.

The Marion Steam Shovel A. C. club will entertain the strong Johnstown Independents on the Unacash avenue diamond tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Vance's A. C. club is scheduled to invade Crawford county to meet the Bucyrus Questions, the Commercial Steel Castings aggregation will trek to Millville for a return game with the Millville Red Sox, and Marion's Colored club will visit Hardin county to oppose the Kenton Reds.

The Diggers will be seeking their third victory in five games against the Johnstown outfit, which has a record of six victories in seven games. The M. S. club won over Craven Druggs 17 to 9 and the Columbus Independents 7 to 2, and lost to the Bucyrus Sozorian Vaults, 9 to 5, and to Bellevue, 7 to 6.

Although the visiting teams' record for the season is much more impressive, with but a single defeat in seven starts, the Diggers last year were able to break even in a pair of games with Johnstown. The Diggers were defeated in the first meeting last year 2 to 1, but invaded Johnstown's home camp to snare a 11 to 6 victory.

Manager Bill Darnell, helmsman of the M. S. A. C. aggregation has announced his teams schedule for the next several weeks. Next Sunday, June 27, the shovel team will entertain the Falter Packers of Columbus, with the Crestline Eagles team visiting here July 4, and the Kenton Reds playing on the Marion diamond, July 5.

Probable line-ups for the M. S. A. C. Johnstown game tomorrow: follow: Marion — Hannaba 2b, Marshall 3b, Nelmeyer cf, Shoup ss, Griffith c, Robbins lf, Balingier 1b, Kuntz or Deweller rf, Edwards cf, Gunn rf, Juna c, Hechman 2b, Petrie 1b, Fenouille lf, Allen 3b, Lewis or Raines p.

For the second straight week, according to averages made public today, the two Red Bird outfields were running one-two in the association batting race, with Rizzo holding the No. 1 spot with .366 average, 12 points under his figure of the previous week. In second place, Slaughter's plate mark was .359.

Slaughter led the parade in two departments. His 95 hits was tops for the circuit and he had hit for 151 total bases. Both he and Rizzo had participated in 56 games. Rizzo led in triples with 10.

The stolen base leader was fleet Lynn King of Columbus, with 16. Max Lanier of Columbus had won two games in two starts in the pitching division, but Max Macon of the same club had won the most games, 10, while losing five.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 19—The historic old American Derby came back to Washington Park today, with its 25th renewal carrying the promise of being a wide-open battle of 11 crack three-year-olds. The $25,000 added event, last run in 1935 had no War Admiral, Pompoon or Reaping Reward to lure the fans, but chances for an upset were expected to draw from 25,000 to 30,000 spectators to the park.

ODDS HEAVY ON BOMBER; ENGLISH MATCH PLANNED

By ALAN GOULD
CHICAGO, June 19—Simultaneous with disclosure of somewhat fantastic plans for heavyweight title activity for the balance of 1937, including a July junket to Piccadilly for the flaccid force, there was a pronounced switch in expert sentiment today favoring the chances that Joe Louis will lift the heavyweight crown from the black thicket of Jim Braddock next Tuesday night.

It may have been purely a coincidence but the unexpectedly rapid development of a program calling for the Louis-Braddock winner to engage Tommy Farr, the British champion, in London coincided with well-authenticated reports the Bronx Bomber has been "under wraps" during most of his public training sessions and the fact that betting commission in Chicago's loop rate the Negro 4 to 1 favorite.

The strong Braddock support in evidence since the fighters pitched camps has not abated, so far as sentiment is concerned, but the champion is now strictly on the short end and backed mainly by the "hunch" players.

Fight writers, more wary than usual in forming opinions or conclusions as a consequence of the baffling records of the two principals, have just about made up their minds to cast caution to the winds and join what looks like a Louis bandwagon.

Mike Jacobs may have his fingers crossed but it is likewise a coincidence in connection with the talk about shifting the next heavyweight title scene to England, that the New York promoter has Louis under long-term contract, whereas the future affiliations or tie-ups of Braddock, following the outcome of Tuesday's match, may be subject to legal entanglements.

British enthusiasts have assured Jacobs a match between Farr and the Braddock-Louis winner would draw upwards of 200,000 pounds, or $1,000,000—the magic figure which only one "gate" has touched since the days of the $2,500,000 Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago, 10 years ago.

HORSE and COW SALE

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23
10:30 A. M.
Bucyrus Livestock Commission Co.
On Plymouth Road State Route 95
BUCYRUS, OHIO

The receipts of horses and mules sold at our last Wednesday's Sale totaled a few over 100. There were quite a lot of buyers here, but don't think they sold quite as strong as last week but everything sold.

From the number of horses and mules reported, look for a good run for next Wednesday's Sale. A big percentage of our horses are trucked from the country on the morning of the sale, so you don't need to be afraid of getting a lot of stale horses that have been standing around sale barns. I think we can show you a good assortment as you will find anywhere and be able to buy them at prices that will compare favorably with other places.

Will have a few good, gentle, saddle horses and ponies again for this sale.

Our Dairy Cow Sale has been running from 9 to 12 each Wednesday and we are expecting at least that many more for this sale. The quality of these cows has been very good and if you can use any cows you can't afford to miss these sales.

Horses and Cows Auction each Wednesday. Cattle, Sheep and Hog Auction each Saturday. You can buy or sell here to a good advantage and your presence will be appreciated.
